

FX Daily – A busy week for major central banks

The US

The DXY Dollar gained by 0.09 to 101.927 by end of the week. The next Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) meeting will conclude this Thursday (3:00am Malaysia time). Market is expecting the FOMC to hike by 25 bps. The FOMC is likely to soften its tone regarding future interest rates hike, but it is unlikely to change the view that the Fed Funds rates need to be above 5.00% quickly. We are of the view that the FOMC will make a 75 bps rate hike during the 1H2023 unless there is a significant shift in FOMC's guidance post upcoming meeting.

US equities & sovereign bonds

Dow Jones up by 0.08% to 33,978, S&P500 up by 0.25% to 4,071, and Nasdag also up by 0.95% to 11,622 following better-than-expected GDP number last week where the economy rose 2.9% in 4Q 2022 compared to 2.6% forecast for the same period.

Better GDP numbers also sent the UST10Y benchmark yield up 0.880 bps to 3.504% and UST2Y up 1.640 bps to 4.199%. The 10/2 spread remained inverted, widening to 69.55 bps.

Eurozone

The Euro lost by 0.22% to 1.087. The European Central Bank (ECB) will be meeting this Thursday to decide on its monetary policy stance. Inflation in the Euro Area has been easing since October 2022, and the latest reading was at 9.2% y/y in December 2022. Nonetheless, core inflation is still on the upward trend, and stood at 5.2% y/y in December 2022, the highest reading since the 1990s. We are expecting the ECB to deliver another 50 bps rate hike during the 1H23 to bring down inflation.

The UK

The Sterling weakened by 0.21% to 1.238. The Bank of England (BoE) will also be meeting on Thursday. Inflation will still be the main policymakers' topic, but the dilemma is making further rate hikes at the expense of the economy, which is already sluggish. Despite all of these, the rate hikes seem necessary to keep the BoE's credibility on track although it clearly promotes stagflationary risk in the UK. Similarly, splitting views among BoE policymakers should be expected, where in the previous meeting, two members opted for the interest rates to be maintained, one voted for a 75 bps rate hike, and the rest voted for 50 bps rate hike. Overall, we expect another 50 bps rate hike in 2023, bringing its cash rate to 4.00%.

Japan

The Yen gained by 0.26% to 129.880. Based on the latest survey, around onethird of companies in Japan are planning to offer wage hikes for their employees, to overcome the high inflation.
