B3 PROSPECTS

Trading activities in Bursa Malaysia continued to rally in Q3 2020. As a result, brokers and investment banks benefited from the increased trading volumes and these benefits flowed to the Group owing to its transaction based charging mechanism.

In Hong Kong, brokers generally maintain a cautious outlook of the global economy amidst the escalating rise in Covid-19 cases and the uncertainties surrounding the US-China economic ties in view of the US Presidential elections which has just ended. As a result, brokers in Hong Kong continues to push forward with cost rationalization plans which had affected the terminal subscriptions for the Group's Hong Kong subsidiary. Nonetheless, the strategy to expand the Group's market share in Hong Kong through the introduction of Asia Trading Hub is expected to offset these effects moving forward.

The Group continues to closely monitor the developments in the economic conditions locally and globally. Barring any unforeseen circumstances, the Group expects its business to remain resilient despite the ongoing pandemic
