B3 PROSPECTS

In the October 2023 Global Economic Prospects report issued by the World Bank, it had revised its projections of the gross domestic product growth from 1.7% in January 2023 to 2.1%. Nonetheless, it had reported that the global growth had slowed sharply compared to 3.1% in 2022. It further added that there was intensified risk of financial stress in emerging market and developing economies amidst tight global financial conditions.

Despite the challenges faced by the global economic front, Malaysia's economic growth continues to be projected to grow moderately between 4% to 5%. The World Bank maintained its forecast economic growth for Malaysia to 4.3% in 2023.

On the domestic front, the recent announcements on the National Energy Transition Roadmap and Ekonomi MADANI policy framework is expected to contribute a positive impact on the Malaysia securities market. Nonetheless, the Group recognizes that the trading activities in the Securities Market will be influenced by various ongoing local and global developments.

Taking these into consideration, the Group expects a moderate performance for the financial year.
